VII. REPORTS
A. Employer Audits
MR. WORLEY invited MS. HELMICK to speak.
MS. HELMICK stated that the report was the third quarter state fiscal year 2022 report. She explained their unit audits for PERS and TRS compliance and that they audit the employers in their political subdivisions which count for over 700 million of PERS and TRS contributions annually. She said she had traveled to Fairbanks in December for an audit trip which had been approved for state fiscal year 2022 and was able to complete three audits.

MS. HELMICK noted that she had been seeing systematic issues with audits for calendar year 2021 and half of fiscal year 2022 which involved police officers and municipal correction officers not being certified in time to qualify for their PERS enrollment. She noted the concern was regarding the time it takes to get through certification and get certified by the Alaska Police Standards Council. She suggested a special audit on that for employers who participate in the PERS peace officer classification.

MS. HELMICK also noted a large issue of ineligible compensation that had been reported with one employer. She said it was related to LWOP (leave without pay) and was discovered by another person in their division, the employer’s employer counselor. She noted that they play a large part in the audits as well.

MS. HELMICK commented that she serves as the state Social Security administrator and had certified the vote held for the Housing Authority in Bethel. She said they had six members who chose Social Security enrollment and said that all future members of that retirement system would be enrolled in Social Security.

B. Report on Delinquent/Late Filing Employers

MR. WORLEY said they had less than three employers that were PERS employers as of February 25th. He noted that when they find those situations, their payroll staff works with the payroll contacts for that employer to find out if they are going to file a report. He said the late filings tend to be from smaller size employers and that typically there are staffing issues. He noted that one employer reported their payroll staff all had COVID which led to the late reporting.

MR. WORLEY said they also follow-up by reaching out to the employer and if a couple of months pass, they then reach out to either the business officer or the finance officer of that employer. He reiterated that it happens more with smaller employers than medium to larger employers.

MR. BRETZ asked if reporting included contributions and were there more that were behind on contributions; MR. WORLEY said it was for the regular payroll report. He noted that by statute, reports should be received 15 days after the paychecks were issued; MR. BRETZ asked if there was a greater list for contributions; MR. WORLEY said there was not; MR. BRETZ commented that it was an improvement; MR. WORLEY confirmed it was and added that there was a separate report for salary employees and that information would be added to this report for the June meeting.

CHAIR WILLIAMS noted that MR. WORLEY had said there were three PERS employers that were delinquent in reporting and no TRS, but two of the delinquent PERS employers were school districts which were predominantly TRS and asked if there was a reason behind that; MR. WORLEY said for school districts, that TRS was the bigger pool for employees, but noted one of their questions was why they were not getting the PERS, but receiving the TRS reports, and checks were being issued.

C. Material Weakness on Forward-Looking Actuarial Assumptions

MR. WORLEY noted that this report was related to the 2021 audit report provided to the Audit Committee by KPMG regarding the forward-looking assumptions – GASB 67 and 74. He said that in a discussion with KPMG’s internal actuary who was going through reports for GASB reporting for net pension liability for the National Guard, they determined that the rate of return used was much higher than what the asset allocation for the National Guard provided, resulting in a revision to the financial reporting of that pension.

MR. WORLEY said that in his discussion with KPMG, he was informed that he should discuss the forward-looking assumptions to make sure they were still pertinent going forward. He said they had set in place with Buck for the next time they work on the GASB 67 and 74 reports, they have a discussion and note when they meet with KPMG’s internal actuary.

CHAIR WILLIAMS asked for confirmation that it wasn’t that the assumptions were off but that there was not a check in place to see if those assumptions needed adjusting; MR. WORLEY said that was correct.

D. Compliance Report and Update

MS. SANCHEZ introduced herself as the Investment Compliance Officer for the ARMB and that she would be providing the annual update of the investment compliance program for 2021. She explained their daily process. She said they download position reports at State Street which is the custodian for every security held in the ARM Board and then upload those reports to Bloomberg. Once in Bloomberg, they run a series of compliance tests which correspond to the adopted ARM Board resolutions in place. She said they also have a series of photometric stationary reports they download each morning into Excel to form a list for compliance checks. She noted that the process allows them to check every ARM Board rule twice to ensure that the rules work properly and that they are not missing any potential issues.

MS. SANCHEZ said they also complete a series of daily check to ensure all daily trades, repos, internal transfers are completed correctly. She noted that they perform a position reconciliation between the custodian and Bloomberg to capture all positions on a monthly basis. They then run true-up journal entries in Bloomberg to make both portfolios match when necessary. She said that if they find anomalies, they inform the internal portfolio staff so they could make necessary journals on their side. She noted that since implementation of the tests, the numbers of errors have decreased.

MS. SANCHEZ explained the yearly breakdown of the commission recapture. She said the program was designed to give managers a rebate on trade commissions, but due to the emphasis to keep commissions at execution-only levels, only one manager, PineBridge is actively participating. She noted that the slight increase in 2021 was likely a function of increased trade volume from 2020.

MS. SANCHEZ said that annually they collect the proxy votes for every ARM Board manager with a statement included that all votes are in the best interest of the ARM Board.
CHAIR WILLIAMS asked if she would give a description of what a Bloomberg violation was. MR. McKnight explained that it was MacKay Shields which had been off books for a while, but there were still a few securities in it, and it shows up as an error every month. CHAIR WILLIAMS, noting the commission rebates dropping from 600,000 in 2008 to 16,400, said that there had been changes made to the organizations they were investing with and asked if it was accurate to say that would be the reason behind the difference in numbers, MR. McKnight said they had concentrated on lowering the commission as a conscious decision.

E. Cost Allocation
MS. LEARY explained that in December there was a presentation from Maximus about cost allocation and the work they perform for each of their divisions and at that meeting former trustee, Rob Johnson wanted more information and put together the list of questions and forwarded it to her. She commented that there were many, many layers of complexity to cost allocation and that the responses to Mr. Johnson’s questions could be found on pages 30 through 33 of the committee packet.

VIII. REVIEW COMMITTEE CHARTER
CHAIR WILLIAMS stated that it was time to review the committee charter and asked if there were any comments. There were none.

IX. FUTURE MEETINGS
A. Calendar Review – MS. JONES stated that it was customary to present the draft calendar of the upcoming year at the March meetings and that the 2023 draft calendar was included in the packet for the committee’s review and comment.

Materiality in the context of an audit

We will apply materiality in the context of the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements, considering the following factors:

Misstatements, including omissions, are considered to be material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

Judgments about materiality are made in light of surrounding circumstances and are affected by the size or nature of a misstatement, or a combination of both.

Judgments about materiality involve both qualitative and quantitative considerations.

Judgments about matters that are material to users of the financial statements are based on a consideration of the common financial information needs of users as a group. The possible effect of misstatements on specific individual users, whose needs may vary widely, is not considered.

Determining materiality is a matter of professional judgment and is affected by the auditor’s perception of the financial information needs of users of the financial statements.

Judgments about the size of misstatements that will be considered material provide a basis for
a) Determining the nature and extent of risk assessment procedures;
b) Identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement; and
c) Determining the nature, timing, and extent of further audit procedures.

Risk assessment

Significant risks

Management override of controls

Management is in a unique position to perpetrate fraud because of its ability to manipulate accounting records and prepare fraudulent financial statements by overriding controls that otherwise appear to be operating effectively. Although the level of risk of management override of controls will vary from entity to entity, the risk nevertheless is present in all entities.

Cybersecurity considerations

Factors and forces elevating cybersecurity risks:

— Shifts to remote work, online customer engagement, digital finance – “remote everything”
— Acceleration of digital strategies/transformation
— Surge and sophistication of cyber attacks
— Risks, vulnerabilities posed by third-party vendors

Considerations for robust oversight:

— Focus on internal controls, access, and security protocols
— Increase diligence around third-party vendors
— Insist on a robust data governance framework
— Clarify responsibilities for data governance across the enterprise
— Reassess how the board—through its committee structure—assigns and coordinates oversight responsibility for cybersecurity and data governance frameworks, including data privacy, ethics, and hygiene

Audit considerations:

— Evaluate risks of material misstatement resulting from, among other things, unauthorized access to financial reporting systems (e.g., IT applications, databases, operating systems)
— Determine whether there is a related risk of fraud
— Develop audit approach based on risk assessment
— If a cybersecurity incident occurs, we understand and evaluate its effect on our audit approach, as well as evaluate management’s assessment of the effect on the financial statements and disclosures
New auditor reporting standards

SAS 134, Auditor Reporting and Amendments, Including Amendments Addressing Disclosures in the Audit of Financial Statements, aligns the content of the auditors’ report under US GAAS with the equivalent ISAs. The revised auditors report will:

- Present the opinion section first, followed by the basis for opinion section.
- Include a statement that the auditor is required to be independent of the entity and to meet the auditor’s other ethical responsibilities relating to the audit.
- Expand the statement of management’s responsibility to include assessing the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern.
- Expand the description of auditor responsibilities to include exercising and maintaining professional judgment throughout the audit, concluding on whether there are conditions or events that raise substantial doubt about the entity’s ability to continue as a going concern, and communicating with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters:
  - The planned scope and timing of the audit,
  - Significant audit findings, and
  - Certain internal control-related matters that are identified during the audit
- When engaged by the entity, key audit matters are communicated within the auditors’ report.

SAS 137, The Auditor’s Responsibilities Relating to Other Information Included in Annual Reports, amends the definition of an annual report and clarifies the auditor’s responsibilities for other information included in the annual report, including when auditors reporting is required. The revised auditors report will:

- Include a separate ‘Other Information’ section when the annual report is available before the date of our auditors’ report.

Effective for years ending on or after December 15, 2021.
Shared responsibilities: Independence

Auditor independence is a shared responsibility and most effective when management, those charged with governance and audit firms work together in considering compliance with the independence rules. In order for KPMG to fulfill its professional responsibility to maintain and monitor independence, management, those charged with governance, and KPMG each play an important role.

System of independence quality control

The firm maintains a system of quality control over compliance with independence rules and firm policies. Timely information regarding upcoming transactions or other business changes is necessary to effectively maintain the firm’s independence in relation to:

— New affiliates (which may include subsidiaries, equity method investees/investments, sister companies, and other entities that meet the definition of an affiliate under AICPA independence rules)
— New directors, officers, owners of 10% or more of the Company's equity securities or ownership interests, and persons in key positions with respect to the preparation or oversight of the financial statements

Certain relationships with KPMG

Independence rules prohibit:

— Certain employment relationships involving directors, officers, or others in an accounting or financial reporting oversight role and KPMG and KPMG covered persons.
— The Company or its directors, officers, from having certain types of business relationships with KPMG or KPMG professionals.
Responsibilities

Management responsibilities

— Communicating matters of governance interest to those charged with governance.
— The audit of the financial statements does not relieve management or those charged with governance of their responsibilities.

KPMG responsibilities – Objectives

— Communicating clearly with those charged with governance the responsibilities of the auditor regarding the financial statement audit and an overview of the planned scope and timing of the audit.
— Obtaining from those charged with governance information relevant to the audit.
— Providing those charged with governance with timely observations arising from the audit that are significant and relevant to their responsibility to oversee the financial reporting process.
— Promoting effective two-way communication between the auditor and those charged with governance.
— Communicating effectively with management and third parties.

KPMG responsibilities – Other

— If we conclude that no reasonable justification for a change of the terms of the audit engagement exists and we are not permitted by management to continue the original audit engagement, we should:
  — Withdraw from the audit engagement when possible under applicable law or regulation, — Communicate the circumstances to those charged with governance, and — Determine whether any obligation, either legal contractual, or otherwise, exists to report the circumstances to other parties, such as owners, or regulators.
— Forming and expressing an opinion about whether the financial statements that have been prepared by management, with the oversight of those charged with governance, are prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework.
— Establishing the overall audit strategy and the audit plan, including the nature, timing, and extent of procedures necessary to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence.
— Communicating any procedures performed relating to other information, and the results of those procedures.
Inquiries

The following inquiries are in accordance with AU-C 260

Are those charged with governance aware of:

- Matters relevant to the audit, including, but not limited to, violations or possible violations of laws or regulations?
- Any significant communications with regulators?
- Any developments in financial reporting, laws, accounting standards, corporate governance, and other related matters, and the effect of such developments on, for example, the overall presentation, structure, and content of the financial statements, including the following:
  - The relevance, reliability, comparability, and understandability of the information presented in the financial statements
  - Whether all required information has been included in the financial statements, and whether such information has been appropriately classified, aggregated or disaggregated, and presented?

Do those charged with governance have knowledge of:

- Fraud, alleged fraud, or suspected fraud affecting the Systems?
  - If so, have the instances been appropriately addressed and how have they been addressed?

MEMORANDUM

TO: ARMB Audit Committee
FROM: Ryan Kauzlarich, Assistant Comptroller
DATE: May 25, 2022
RE: State Street Bank and NRS SOC1 Reporting

The custodial agreement between the ARMB and State Street includes a provision that State Street agrees to submit annually to an audit and to provide to the ARMB an annual report prepared by independent auditors expressing an unmodified opinion on the adequacy of State Street’s custodial internal controls. AICPA AT-C Section 320 – Reporting on an Examination of Controls at a Service Organization Relevant to User Entities’ Internal Control Over Financial Reporting is also referred to as the Service Organization Controls (SOC 1) Report. This standard was developed in response to the globalization of information technology, business process outsourcing and the need for common global standards and comparability.

Auditors must perform their examinations in accordance with International Standard on Assurance Engagements 3402, Assurance Reports on Controls at a Service Organization, issued by the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board. This standard requires that auditors comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform their examination to obtain reasonable assurance of the fairness of State Street’s presentation of the description of the operational and IT control systems and the suitability of the design and operating effectiveness of those controls to achieve stated control objectives.

State Street has two SOC 1 reports; one report covers operational control objectives and a second report covers IT control objectives. Each is issued semiannually for the one year ended September 30th and March 31st. We continue to receive and review these as they are issued. The March 31, 2022, reports were reviewed with State Street staff on May 24, 2022. E&Y’s unmodified opinions state that State Street’s description presents fairly, in all material respects, State Street’s control systems, that the controls related to the Control Objectives were suitably designed to provide reasonable assurance that the Control Objectives would be achieved if the controls operated effectively thought the period, and if subservice organizations and user entities applied the complementary controls assumed in the design of State Street’s controls throughout the period. None of the exceptions noted by E&Y were material.

ARMB staff also continues to receive and review the annual SOC 1 report of NRS. The most recently received and reviewed report was for the year ended December 31, 2021. Berry Dunn issued an unmodified opinion in the report and noted no relevant deviations in its testing. Both State Street and NRS will confirm the consistency of internal controls through the ARMB fiscal year end of June 30 to staff and its auditors.

Please contact me if you wish to discuss or receive any part of these reports.
Organizational charts for each of the above listed sections are included on the following pages.

It also serves as a conduit of communication among the independent auditors, asset, liability and investment management, the chief financial officers, and the Board of Trustees.

The Committee has the authority to conduct any investigation appropriate to fulfilling its responsibilities, and it has direct access to the independent auditors, as well as ARMB management and staff, legal counsel, and asset managers. The Committee may retain, at the expense of the ARMB and consistent with applicable procurement requirements, special legal, accounting, or other consultants or experts it considers necessary in the performance of its duties.

II. Audit Committee Responsibilities and Duties.

A. The Committee shall carry out the following review responsibilities:

1. Review and assess the adequacy of this Charter at least annually and submit recommended changes to it to the Board of Trustees for approval.

2. Review the annual audited financial statements prior to filing or distribution of the final report. This review should include discussion with management and independent auditors of significant issues regarding accounting principles, practices, and judgments.

3. In consultation with management, the independent auditors, and the chief financial officers, consider the integrity of the financial reporting processes and controls; discuss significant financial risk exposures and the steps management has taken to monitor, control, and report such exposures; and review significant findings prepared by the independent auditors and the chief financial officers together with management's responses.

4. Discuss any significant changes to applicable accounting principles and any items required to be communicated by the independent auditors.

5. At least annually, review with the ARMB's counsel any legal matters that could have a significant impact on the Fund’s financial statements, the ARMB's compliance with applicable laws and regulations, and any inquiries received from regulators or governmental agencies.
6. Review financial and accounting personnel succession planning within the ARMB.

B. The Committee is recognized as a direct avenue for the reporting of any material or significant finding by the Treasury Division Compliance Office. The Chair of the Committee shall be the primary contact with the external auditors between meetings of the Committee if communications between the external auditors and the Committee are deemed necessary or desirable.

C. The Committee shall have the following responsibilities with respect to the ARMB's independent auditors:

1. Review the independence and performance of the auditors and periodically recommend to the Board of Trustees the appointment of the independent auditors or approve any discharge of auditors when circumstances warrant.

2. Review the independent auditors' audit plan - discuss scope, staffing, locations, reliance upon management, and general audit approach.

3. Discuss with management and the independent auditors the accounting principles and underlying estimates used in the preparation of the Fund’s financial statements.

4. Review the external auditor's management letter to the ARMB and discuss the contents with the auditors and monitor the follow-up on significant observations, findings and recommendations.

5. Discuss with the independent auditors the clarity of the financial disclosure practices used or proposed by the ARMB.

6. Meet with the auditors, in the absence of management, to review findings, recommendations or other pertinent subjects.

D. In addition to the foregoing, the Committee shall:

1. Perform such other activities consistent with this Charter, and governing law as the Committee considers necessary or appropriate or as the Board of Trustees may otherwise request.
